Death of Frederick William of Hesse at Cara Orman Officially Announced

(Associated Press Cable.)

Berlin, September 15. — Prince Frederick William of Hesse has been killed at Cara Orman, it is officially announced by the War Office in its report of operations on the Balkan front.

The prince was a nephew of Emperor William. He was born in 1893 at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, the eldest son of Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse and the Princess Margaret, sister of the German Emperor.

He was reported wounded in the fighting in France in September, 1914.

He is the second prince of the house of Hesse to be killed in the war, Prince Maximilian falling on a French battlefield in October, 1914.

BRITISH RESUME OFFENSE

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, September 15. — The British resumed the offensive in an attack north of the Somme, in northern France, today.

According to London, they have driven back the German line from about a mile and a quarter to nearly a mile and three quarters, at some places, in an assault along a six mile front.

The line of the attack extended from Boulay Wood, northwest of Comblès, to a point north of the Albert-Bapaume road, which runs through Pozieres.

As a preliminary to today's extensive movement, General Haig's forces last night attacked and captured German trenches along a front of more than half a mile south-east of Thiepval.

The combined assault thus covered virtually the entire Somme front of the British.

BREAK THIRD LINE

The British also have broken the German third line of defense along the Somme and have taken the village of Flers, two miles north of Ginchy, according to reports received today.

British forces are also reported to have gained the outskirts of Martenpuziers, a mile and a half east of Pozieres, the report adds.

The French drove into the south of Comblès and report a nadvance as far as the village of Rancourt.

Heavy fighting also has taken place on the Verdun front, where Paris reports the repulsing of two German attacks.

Heavy attacks are also being delivered by the French forces against the Bulgarians on the Macedonian front, with marked success.

SERBIANS VICTORS

The Serbians have also won victories with the French and British.

The official statement indicates that the most serious defeat was administered by the Serbians, who drove the Bulgarians back twelve miles after several days' fighting west of Lake Ostrovo, capturing prisoners and 25 cannon.

The French and British drove at the Bulgarian center on both sides of the Vardar, the French taking positions a mile long and a half mile deep east of the river, and the British carrying important positions west of the stream.

Constantinople reports the British again on the offensive in Mesopotamia. The Turkish War Office claims to have repulsed the attacks, in one of which the British are said to have lost 2,000 men.

JOINT COMMISSION HOLDS SHORT SESSION

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New London, Conn., September 15. —The Mexican-American Joint Commission held only a short session today, the Mexican members planning to leave for New York to attend the celebration there tomorrow commemorating her declaration of independence and the throwing off of Spanish rule.

It developed at the morning session that practical obstacles have arisen in the consideration of the Commission's problem for the pacification of the border, and it seems now that no conclusion can be reached without prolonged discussion.

BANDIT'S HEAD GIVEN GOVERNOR

Outlaw Terror of Colima State Killed By Ranchers.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

El Paso, Texas, September 15. —

All centers of amusement or gathering places have been closed in the city of Zacatecas because of the typhus epidemic, according to newspapers arriving here today from Chihuahua City.

The papers say the Commission of Sanitation has already reduced the mortality rate, which had been terrible.

The head of the bandit Luis Gutierrez, known in Mexico as the "enchanted goat," has been sent to the Governor of Guadalajara.

Gutierrez, long the terror of the people in the state of Colima, was attacked and killed by ranchers who had tired of his exactions.

Cutting off the head, the ranchers bore it in triumph to Colima, the town where it was exhibited to the public.

CARRANZA CALLS FOR ELECTIONS

First Chief of Mexico in a Lengthy Preamble Gives an Account of His Administration and Directs Method of Establishing Government on a Firm Basis.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Mexico City, September 15. —General Carranza has issued a call for the election of delegates to an assembly to consider changes in the constitution.

In a preamble now made public, he explains his purpose in issuing the call.

It shows that the plan of the Constitutionalists provided that, when their cause was triumphant and municipal elections had taken place, the first chief should call for the election of a congress, give account of his administration, and have his actions ratified or modified by the congress.

He was then to call a presidential election and turn over the executive power to the legally elected president.

The preamble asserts that Carranza always intended to carry out that program, and to that end adopted various measures for the correct government of the people and for their betterment.

Some reforms which he had already initiated, he asserts, affected the functions of government as limited by the constitution; and therefore, the only way to attain the desired ends is to provide for a constitutional assembly to which the entire country will be able to express its will, putting the government on a firm basis beyond all question of legality.

The election of delegates to the assembly will be held October 15, and business sessions will begin December 1 and will be limited to two months.

As soon as a constitution is adopted a presidential election will be arranged and the assembly will be dissolved.

CHARRED HULK ONLY REMAINS

Magnificent Pacific Liner Congress Almost Total Loss.

Papers Burned.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Marshfield, Oregon, September 15.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's liner Congress swung on her anchor chain at the entrance to Coos Bay today—a black and burned out hulk, as the result of the fire which caused her to race for this port last night.

Every one of the 253 passengers on board and the crew of 175 were landed safely last night by the dredge Colonel P. S. Michie.

Several members of the crew, overcome by smoke were all reported today to be recovering. None of the passengers appeared to have suffered any ill effects.

All of the ship's papers and valuables estimated at $50,000, were burned.

These, together with the ship's cargo, valued at an equal amount, will bring the total loss to $2,100,000, the ship being valued at $2,000,000.

The cause of the fire remains a mystery.

MAY AVERT SYMPATHY STRIKES

While Union Leaders Believe That Mayor Mitchell Is Powerless They Yet Hope for a Way Out.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New York, September 15. — Although union leaders have virtually abandoned hope that Mayor Mitchell and the Public Service Commission may bring about an amicable adjustment of the differences between the striking street railway men and their employers, the belief was strong in official circles today that some action would be taken within the next 24 hours to avert the threatened sympathetic strike of 70,000 trade unionists.

The Central Federation of Manhattan will hold a special meeting to consider the advisability of joining in the strike.

The Brooklyn Central Labor Union, composed of 95 local unions, already has voted in favor of such a strike.

During the night violence broke out anew. From midnight until early today, Sixth and Ninth Avenue elevated trains were bombarded with bricks, stones and other missiles. One guard was injured.

Service on the subway and elevated lines continues normal, but the surface lines are still crippled.

Navy officials are elated over the success which has marked the Arizona's construction by Government workmen.

Acting Secretary Roosevelt said today the ship not only would be finished on schedule time, but would save the Government about $1,000,000, as compared with lowest estimates of private concerns.

JAPS GAVE RUSS ASSURANCE

(Associated Press Cable.)
Tokio, Japan, Sept. 15.—The fact that at the beginning of the present war Japan officially informed Russia that Russia had nothing to fear from Japan was revealed in a recent address by Viscount Takaaki Kato, who was minister for foreign affairs at the outbreak of the conflict. The idea behind the assurance given by Japan was that Russia might hesitate to denude her eastern provinces of troops and throw herself wholeheartedly into the war because of some possible act of aggression of Japan against Russia.

Viscount Kato made his address at a meeting of the governmental parties held to celebrate the new alliance with Russia. He said that Russia appeared to be concerned as to what attitude Japan would adopt when the war against Germany was declared. Viscount Kato said that as foreign minister he had sent a note to the Russian government advising Russia not to be worried over Japan's attitude, affirming that Japan would never take any step to menace Russia's interests or join war on the side of Germany.

The speaker declared that among Japanese statesmen there were some who favored a strict neutrality for Japan during the war, but the wise and courageous determination of the Okuma ministry Japan had taken the side of the Entente Allies and by waging war upon Germany had wrested Tsing-tau from her grip and had helped to crush German naval strength in the South Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Viscount Kato concluded: "If Japan geographically were situated nearer the German domination she would have been able to assist the Entente Allies more effectively and to have clashed with the German army and navy in the European arena of war."

MEMOIR.

On Saturday morning Sept. 9th, 1916, just as the first gray streaks of early dawn on eastern sky gave promise of another day, the family circle of Elmer and Rosa Armbrust was broken again, when the youngest son Forest, was called by the Savior to come and dwell with his sister in the Eternal Home.

Forest Garinger Armbrust was born Feb. 16th 1916 and at the time of his death, lacked but one week of being seven months of age. He leaves in this home two sisters and two brothers who have lost a tender playmate and a life time brother's love. The mother and father are left to mourn his loss, though every care and deed, that human hands could do was done for him, but it was the Masters will and they consign him to His care.

The little human things of life—
An innocent look, a little trust,
A friendly smile amid the strife
That crushes souls into the dust.

A blooming flower for some tired eyes,
And music for a weary heart—
"Just little things"—not any size—
But, ah, the sweetness they impart!

But now his radiant course is run,
For Forest's course was bright;
His soul was like the glorious sun,
A matchless, heavenly light.

WOMEN OPERATE STREET RAILWAYS

(Associated Press Cable.)
Vienna, Sept. 15.—More than 5,000 women are now employed in the municipal street car service of Vienna. Of the 12,000 male employees before the car service which is now in operation nearly twenty-four hours a day, carry not only ordinary passenger but at night hauling coal and merchandise. There are no more motor-cabs or motor-trucks or lorries, and horses are very scarce. Consequently the street railways have become practically the only means of transportation.

Most of the women employees are acting as conductors but great efforts are being made to get permission from the Ministry of Railways for them to act as motor-drivers. The grades in Vienna are in places quite steep, and require great strength for using the brakes so that the authorities hitherto have failed to sanction the employment of women for this

Take No Chances

People in all sections of the nation, during the last few months, have been much alarmed over the outbreak of infantile paralysis in the east. That there has been abundant cause for anxiety is attested by the toll of death and suffering which New York City and New York State and New Jersey, daily record.

The disease is terrifying not only because of the large percentage of deaths among the victims it seizes upon, but because it, in the great majority of instances attacks the little children and infants. It is a disease too, which but rarely, in comparison to other infections or contagious diseases, attains an epidemic form and it is a disease which the medical profession is not as well fitted to combat as it is others which attain epidemic form.

The recognized symptoms are easily confused with those which result from the most common ills of childhood, even such as follow the minor hurts.

For instance, one of the symptoms is a slight limp, an unsteady walk or a tendency to drag one foot, results that would very naturally follow a hurt or a sprain. The fever and nausea are common to all childhood ills.

Looking then to the recognized symptoms or indications the large number of quarantines reported is not remarkable.

Rural Ohio has been particularly fortunate in escaping an outbreak of the disease and also in avoiding an undue public excitement which would lead to the inconvenience and cost of wholesale quarantines.

Much of the credit for the existence of both highly satisfactory conditions is due to the earnest vigilance of the physicians.

Washington and Fayette county have been particularly fortunate, but our physicians have never relaxed in their watchfulness and have never taken any chances in guarding faithfully the public interest.

The one or two cases where symptoms justified physicians in believing that there was a possibility that it might develop into dread infantile paralysis, have been promptly isolated and in effect, quarantined, but so quietly that no public clamor or fear resulted. In the few instances thus far the symptoms were proven to have been the result of minor hurts and the surveillance was removed.

Our physicians are right in taking no chances and they are right in doing their work of guarding against possibilities quietly and effectually, rather than relaxing their real watchfulness to indulge in bombastic talk and pretentious display or to settle foolish arguments.

President Ripley Again

The interviews which Mr. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, persists in giving to the public on the now closed incident, the threatened strike of the railroad employees, are not such as the public would expect from a man of his prominence.

Supplementing his first statement that the Santa Fe would not observe the eight hour a day law until forced to do so by decree of the United States Supreme Court, Mr. Ripley now comes forward with the announcement that he wishes the strike had been called and the railroads, especially the Santa Fe, been given an opportunity to demonstrate that they were powerful enough to crush the strikers.

Mr. Ripley entirely overlooks the one big important fact that the people of the nation in all lines of business would have paid the cost.

The people of the United States, whose business depends on the operation of the great common carrier railroads are not enough concerned with knowing which is the more powerful, the Santa Fe railroad organization or the employees brotherhoods, to pay the price which a strike with its accompanying strife, suffering, bloodshed, death and paralysis of the commerce of the land would entail.

It was to avoid all that awful cost to the public, that the Adamson law was passed, not as a favor to the Santa Fe railroad, which during the month of June enjoyed the greatest month's business of its existence, enabling the company after paying increased operating expenses to report a surplus above its fixed charges of twenty-one per cent on the outstanding preferred stock and nine per cent on the outstanding common stock, nor as a favor to the employees who are receiving higher compensation than ever before.

Had the strike come the bond holders, the preferred and common stock holders would have borne their share of the cost and their property and the peace of domestic commerce weighs more heavily in the balances than the satisfaction Mr. Ripley would have obtained in demonstrating that he could crush the strikers.

Poetry For Today

THE HOSTAGE.
I know a garden fair
Far in the East,
Where slender tulips spill
Their attar dews on maiden hair.
And lurid poppies flare and flame
Across the mauve-gold dusk
In the moonlit pools of ecstasy,
And all in Peace.

I know a desert mound
Far in the West,
Where lean coyotes trail
Around one breast of naked bronze
Which bared but yesterday to Bandit Hate
Then bled, and now lies still
Beneath mesquite and pinon tree
And all in Peace.

No gentle petals fall
Upon his head.
No zephyrs chant a priestly requiem
He would not say which way the gringos went.
So there he lies,
Tortured, burned and dead;
And all in Peace.

ROYAL WELCOME FOR MEN FROM MIDDLETOWN

Deep Interest Manifested in Clear Discussion of Form of Municipal Rule Proposed in This City—"City Manager Form Is the Ideal Government," Says the Framers of Middletown's Charter

More than 150 representative citizens assembled, at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening to greet the Middletown men who came here for the purpose of discussing the charter form of government, and the deep interest manifested throughout the meeting was evidence of the interest in the proposed change of the form of government in this city.

The visitors arrived about six o'clock, coming by automobile, and the party was composed of Attorney B. F. Harwitz, the man who wrote the Middletown charter; Frank B. Pauly, editor and manager of the Middletown Journal; John Kunz, city clerk of Middletown; Edward Dreher, contracting plumber; Walter Lawrence, of the Raymond Bag Company, and Gilbert Harwitz, nephew of Attorney Harwitz.

The visitors were given a hearty welcome, and proved most congenial in every way, and men whom it is a genuine pleasure to know.

At 6:30 the entire party was ushered into the spacious gym where tables for the accommodation of all were arranged and where the usual repast of the Dutch Treat Club was served and enjoyed, amid the usual jollity of such occasions.

By the time dinner was at an end quite a number of additional citizens had assembled, bringing the number well up toward 175.

Chairman Worthington of the Dutch Treat Club presided as master of ceremonies, and as usual, acquitted himself with honor.

He first introduced the five men who had accompanied Mr. Harwitz, and each spoke briefly, expressing their pleasure of being present.

Mr. Pauly was the only one of the five men who spoke of the charter form of government, stating that Middletown was the best governed city of its size in the United States, and he could heartily recommend the charter form as the only ideal form of municipal government.

Mr. Harwitz was then introduced, and for fully one hour he discussed in clear and impressive manner the charter form of government, answering all questions to the satisfaction of his auditors, and making a most favorable impression upon all.

Mr. Harwitz stated that it was not his purpose to tell Washington citizens that they should adopt any particular kind of government, but he simply wished to make clear the advantages of the Middletown form over the antiquated and less harmonious form under which cities have been struggling for years.

He then gave a brief history of the form under which this city is now governed, and the mistake in endeavoring to govern a city of 5,000 under the unwieldy plan used by big cities.

He spoke of the frequent lack of harmony between the legislative and administrative bodies, and the turmoil and dissatisfaction growing from lack of harmony, and how under the Commission form the one body had both legislative and executive powers, and harmony reigns. "The old form is a divided form, and things divided do not stand," he declared.

Under the charter form, he stated, people really govern themselves, and have powers which are not possible under the old form, and full value is received for each dollar expended.

Other facts mentioned by Mr. Harwitz are: Charter form is not a new one. It is the old colonial plan with a new name, and was used for many years by the Old New Englanders. Select men who will do the work in a business-like manner.

Every citizen should do his part toward making government effective. All members of commission are subject to recall. All business is subject to referendum if not satisfactory. The City Manager form is better than the regular commission form. Memphis, Tenn., was redeemed by five men in two years, under the charter form. The City Manager form is the ideal government.

He then gave the story of Middletown, how the commission form was adopted as soon after the flood as possible, and had proven a great success in detail, and all citizens would admit the success, and would not return to the old form under any consideration. The Commissioners, he stated found the city bankrupt, but placed their shoulders to the wheel and their efforts have been rewarded with success.

Mr. Harwitz further said that when duty called to the citizens qualified to fill a position as commissioner, he should not shirk, because he owes it to his fellow men and to himself, and that after all services is the one greatest thing to be considered in the human life.

He was asked a number of questions by various individuals, and his answers were prompt and invariably satisfactory. One statement he made was of particular interest, and that was where Middletown had started in to pay one half the cost of street paving, and quit because it was found the city would soon be bankrupt. Also that better contracts could be obtained under new form, and money saved.

At the close of Mr. Harwitz's address, Chairman Worthington called upon Hon. C. A. Reid to extend the appreciation of the Dutch Treat Club and citizens generally for the interest and efforts of the Middletown visitors, and this was splendidly done in a brief speech teeming with assurance of the deep appreciation of all. He extended thanks for the new lessons of service and citizenship brought by the visitors, and expressed confidence in the new form of government proposed.

Chairman Worthington announced that another meeting would be called in the near future when organization would be made for the purpose of taking up and pushing the work of obtaining a charter form of municipal rule for Washington.

MRS. MARTHA IRELAND LAID TO REST

Mrs. Martha Ireland was laid to rest in the Good Hope cemetery Thursday afternoon, following services of honor and tribute in the M. E. church of Good Hope.

Before the funeral procession formed for Good Hope friends gathered at the home of the deceased for a brief service, in which Rev. J. Vernon Stone read the scriptures, the hymn "Abide With Me," and offered prayer.

A number of the older friends of Mrs. Ireland's long years of residence at the Ireland homestead near Good Hope, with family friends of later years, were in waiting at the church at the appointed hour.

Rev. Chas. L. Pfaltzgraf, of Good Hope, conducted the opening service, after which Rev. Stone took charge, reading the memoir, delivering the sermon and officiating at the grave.

A quartet, Mrs. S. E. Boggs, Mrs. Dale Murry, Messrs. Chas. Lyle and Chas. Jones sang the same hymn that had been read at the home.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Levi Ireland of Huntsville, Lawrence Pennington, Frank Alexander, of Lynchburg, Douglas Shoaff, of Springfield, Ill., H. C. Ireland and Wm. Eyre, of this city.

Relatives coming from a distance were the son, Mr. Levi Ireland, of Huntsville, and brothers, Mr. Wm. Alexander and Mr. Isaac Alexander of Lynchburg, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Shoaff, a granddaughter, of Springfield, Ills.

In Social Circles

"Fayette Nursery," the noted Riley home on the Bogus road, was the scene of a great neighborhood gathering Wednesday night, when a hundred and fifty people of that section gathered for a picnic basket supper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Riley, daughter Miss Luella, and son Owen, had hospitably extended a general invitation which was delightedly accepted and the occasion was one never to be forgotten.

The tables were arranged on the lawn, flooded with moonlight, and the decorations were a profusion of flowers from the Riley gardens.

The picnic supper was pronounced the best that could be gotten up and the evening passed merrily in games, music and sociability.

Two score of friends pleasantly surprised Robert Haines at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Haines, east of town, in honor of his birthday.

One of the jolliest affairs of the week in the Junior set was a 'roast' given by Renick Allen at the Allen country place, near town.

The big harvest moon shone down upon a merry crowd of girls and boys as they toasted "weiners" marshmallows and all kinds of good things in the moonlight.

A delicious collation was served; the hostess assisted by Mrs. Robert Howat, Mrs. Val McCoy and Miss McHenry. Mrs. Hibben Ervin of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. George Kerr, of Lily Chapel were out of town guests.

ELDER IS FREED

After hearing the testimony of Theodore Calloway and John Hill, colored operatives of the State Liquor License Commission, Mayor Oster on Thursday afternoon took under consideration a motion to dismiss the charge of selling intoxicants recently filed against John Elder, and Friday morning entertained the motion dismissing the charge and giving Elder his freedom accordingly.

The action of the court was taken when the testimony of the two witnesses, who claimed to have been together when the alleged offense was committed, wholly conflicted. Each man told his story and stuck to it, but the stories were so much at variance that the Court refused to regard the testimony as other than false.

Elder was represented by Lee Rankin and J. D. Post, while the prosecution was conducted by Gregg, Patton & Gregg.

Wilson's Americanism.

"But those who criticize say the president is an infirm American. Now it so happens in this country not birth nor religion, but loyalty to America, constitutes the American. Any blood and any faith and any party that assaults an American president because he chooses to ignore blood and church and party in the cause of peace would suffer less by committing hari-kari."

"Another phrase copyrighted without definition by the Republicans is 'American honor.' Now everybody knows there are as many kinds of honor as there are kinds of men. A gambler believes that honor consists in paying his gaming debts. A crook believes it consists in shielding his pals, and a thief in fairly dividing the booty. Individual honor changes with the ages. Alexander Hamilton thought that honor demanded that he give Aaron Burr a chance to kill him, but we now do not think so. The honor of America is simply the composite opinion of the American people as to when and why we should go to war."

"Let any organized government upon the face of the earth through its governmental authorities deliberately offer an insult to the flag, or trample upon the rights of the American people, and the Spirit of '76 will be found alive everywhere in our land."

"In regard to Mexico, let the Republicans say that they will intervene. Let them announce their purpose to invade that country and police it, to guarantee title to property however obtained and to remain therein as long as necessary, and then let every son, husband and father, synchronously with voting the Republican ticket, enlist in the army of intervention. But if they will not do this let them keep silence."

"The one bright, peaceful spot under the sun this day is America and it is so because the president pleads guilty to the charge of using words rather than shot and shell and shrapnel."

BIG BUNCH

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 15.—A meeting of the Industrial Workers of the World in Old Forge was raided by Sheriff Ben S. Phillips with the aid of a dozen of his deputies and twenty state troopers headed by Lieutenant Price, and every man in the hall, 318 in all, were arrested, loaded into vehicles of various kinds and taken to the Lackawanna county jail charged with rioting.

The authorities had issued orders that the meeting was not to be held. There were attempts to escape but no serious violence on the part of the prisoners.

THOUSANDS GET GREAT REWARDS FOR CONFIDENCE

Implicit Faith in Tanlac Has Been Brought About by Circumstances.

Sound statements are based on exact knowledge and such knowledge can only be gained by experience. The great faith hundreds of thousands of people have in Tanlac, The National Tonic, has been brought about by circumstances.

Most people judge Tanlac as a man judges an old friend, not by a quick impression, but by what they have actually seen it do.

Beyond the evidence of any one locality stands tens of thousands of people in all parts of America who are ready to vouch for Tanlac. These are people who are grateful for the relief Tanlac has given them in stomach, kidney, liver and catarrhal ailments.

Tanlac's healing and strengthening qualities are derived from roots, herbs, flowers and berries, gathered in many parts of the world.

Many say they actually have not known what it was to eat with comfort for years before they took Tanlac. Others say it has restored their nerves and brought them peaceful, restful, healthy sleep. Still others extol its merits as a blood purifier, a remedy for catarrh, and the many ills which arise from a catarrhal condition of the mucus membranes.

Tanlac is being introduced in Washington C. H. at Blackmer & Tanquary's.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns, Sabina, J. J. Spurgeon; Wilmington, Harry Christopher; Jeffersonville, J. B. Davis; Jamestown, W. F. FOOD FOR SYRIANS

Washington, Sept. 15.—The Turkish government, in a communication to the state department, consents to the shipment of relief supplies from the United States to famine sufferers in Syria. The action reverses the previous attitude of Turkish officials, who refused two urgent pleas by the department for the privilege to make such shipments.

Distribution of the supplies, which already have been offered in large quantity by Syrian and Armenian relief societies, would be made under the Turkish plan, through the port of Beirut. State department officials believe that, inasmuch as the French government has been anxious to get such supplies through and may itself contribute, assent of the entente allies for passage of shipments through the blockade of Turkey may be confidently expected.

The department regarded Turkey's action as especially timely, since Oct. 21 and 22 have been named in a proclamation by President Wilson as relief days for raising further funds and supplies for Syrians and Armenians. With the assurance that shipments will be passed through by Turkey, it is expected here that the contributions will be greatly augmented.

The consent of the Ottoman government with respect to Syria does not apply to Armenia, but negotiations are being continued for similar concessions there. As forwarded by the American embassy at Constantinople, the Turkish communication fixes only one condition, that the supplies for Syria be distributed from Beirut through Red Cross and Red Crescent societies.

In its previous communications regarding Syria, Turkey had insisted that there was no urgent need for relief supplies there. Advice from other sources, however, convinced the state department that many of the inhabitants had been reduced to starvation, and Turkey was informed in July that continued failure to heed the American request for permission to make shipments would put a severe strain on relations between the two countries.

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf where she leaves the car. Becoming lost in the everglades she falls into the hands of the Seminole Indians. She is rescued and returned to her father who had offered a reward for her return. Gloria falls in love with her rescuer, Freneau. Five years later she leaves school and meets Freneau at the theater; his attention having been occupied with her sister-in-law he has forgotten Gloria. Gloria feels that her one dream is shattered. Later Freneau persuades her to forgive him. Gloria's sister-in-law, Lois, becomes intensely jealous and Doctor Royce discovers in her an ally to assist in thwarting Freneau. Doctor Royce warns Freneau that there is another woman besides Gloria; Freneau goes sleighing with Gloria without her father's knowledge. It results in pneumonia for Gloria, whose family becomes incensed at Freneau when they learn the truth. Royce is summoned to alleviate Gloria's suffering. Freneau's finances being low he approaches Pierpont Stafford for a loan. Doctor Royce again warns Freneau of his conduct. But Lois threatens him with dire punishment. Her husband, Gloria's brother David, becomes suspicious; he plans a trap for his wife. Freneau driven to desperation by Lois' threats agrees to spend a week with her in the Catskills. He plans to have Mulry send Gloria a bunch of telegrams. Lois husband threatens to kill a man. After Freneau takes leave of Gloria she sees from her window an attack made upon him when he goes to meet Lois.

Richards sighed her last tribute to sentiment, romance and the beauty of the night, and, moving towards her patient's room, assumed her usual crisp and cheerful manner. As Richards came in Gloria turned to her with a wan little smile of welcome and put her hand out towards her.

She looked like a small child lying there, and the color scheme of her room—soft grays and powder blue—made an exquisite setting for the girl's own colorful type. The blue of her eyes contrasting with the delicate red of her hair, her peach-blossom skin, a baby chin, a girl's mouth, and a woman's soul, made up a total of irresistible appeal.

Just now a heavy splash of scarlet on either cheek told the nurse of unusual fever, but with her newly awakened sense of romance she attributed the condition to Gloria's probable disinclination to parting with her lover. For Freneau had told her that he must leave town on business for a whole week. When he came to bid farewell the nurse left the room, returning when Freneau had gone. He left Gloria in a lonely gloom.

Gloria was fretful and restless, complaining that she did not feel ready for sleep. It was the nurse who was drowsy after the long strain of Gloria's illness.

Richards put out all the lights save the one shaded lamp by the bedside, and then she must have dozed, for the next thing she knew was that her ears were throbbing and her nerves jangling with the wild clamor of Gloria's screams.

For an instant the nurse was too horrified to move, then as her wits returned to her the fact that the voice was Gloria's penetrated to her consciousness. Gloria, indeed, was tugging at her and crying to her incoherently. Then she fainted as her father rushed in in his dressing gown. He and Miss Richards lifted the girl's body to the bed. Then Richards reached for the telephone to call Doctor Royce, blaming herself bitterly the while for having slept at her post. Doctor Royce was not at home. His secretary promised to send him the moment he returned. The nurse did what she could.

Turning to the bed she was clutched by the groping hands of Gloria. She heard her cry:

"Save him, save him, father; they've murdered him! Let me go to him! Oh, Dick, Dick!"

Richards held the frantic girl tight in her arms and tried to soothe her as she struggled to rise from the bed again. But the eyes that looked into hers were almost those of a maniac, and the nurse signed to the distracted father to help her. Gloria was shrieking now as she found renewed strength.

Rheumatism One of The Most Treacherous Diseases That Afflicts Mankind So Says Dr. Frederick Blankner, the Specialist.

Rheumatism is merely a relative term to express pain which is caused by retention of various poisons in the blood, the principal ones of which are uric acid and urea. Both are deadly physiological poisons. These poisons are largely eliminated through the kidneys but are generated through the inactivity of the liver, indigestion and constipation. The system is largely poisoned through the colon, the ascending retaining fecal matter an undue length of time that undergoes putrefaction as well as developing poisonous gases.

Fortunately the large majority of cases of rheumatism are curable. We have many kinds of rheumatism, such as syphilitic, gonorrheal, inflammatory, muscular, lumbago, intercostal, gout, sciatic, torticollis and articular, but all kinds of rheumatism come from pretty much the same cause, that of defective elimination of the poison.

Every case must be treated according to the conditions presented. That is why Dr. Blankner is so successful not only in the treatment of one kind of chronic disease but all chronic ailments and if afflicted in any way, you will surely be acting wisely to make a Little Journey to room No. 32, Arlington Hotel, and meet the doctor face to face in a heart to heart talk. Do it now.

5,000 Diseased Teeth in Fayette County That Should Be Extracted.

Yes there are no less than 5000 teeth in Fayette County that are diseased and should be extracted for the preservation of the general health. Now listen, you go and see Mr. Lloyd Price, Western Ave., who for years suffered with his teeth. It would be hard to imagine a worse set of diseased teeth. What happened? Why, 28 were removed. Did he smile and say God Bless the Doctor? You bet he did. No chloroform, ether, gas, or any other dangerous drugs used. Mrs. J. P. Bush, R. R. No. 2 called. Said she could not take any kind of a drug. Her heart was weak. Extremely nervous and yet 14 teeth were taken out and she never murmured. Mrs. Jennie Fultz, R. R. No. 2 likewise had out 18. Just ask her what she thinks of the work. Mrs. John Bishop, 633 So. Hinde street, had but little confidence before she sat down but when she got through she was the proudest woman in Washington and said Doctor you can refer them to me and tell them what you did for me. Geo. A. Williams, R. R. No. 10, Box 24, well what you did for me. Was he pleased? Why he could not say enough in praise of the work. He had out 7. His sister, Mrs. O. Lambert, North Grace St., had out 8 and she too smiled and said God Bless the doctor. Mr. Lin. Eddy, North St., had out 7 last Saturday and called again and had out 7 more. Mr. Eddy said that he runs a butcher shop and going through the country to buy cattle he said Doctor I have just been telling every one about the efficiency of your work. Many more could be mentioned. Now if you have diseased teeth just call on all or any of the people referred to above. You surely are interested and when it is said that Dr. Blankner has no superior in the art of extracting teeth without pain and the very best of results it is the truth and never again will you have a better opportunity. Winter is coming on and with it many will suffer untold torture with ulcerated teeth. Avoid this. Until Sunday noon, September 17, Room No. 32, Arlington Hotel, office hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Both phones. Doctor's wife in attendance.

"THE RUNAWAYS"

The home talent play, "The Runaways," which is to be given under the auspices of the Women of St. Andrew's Church, September 28th and 29th is to have the honor of the personal direction and attention of its author, Mr. Lewis Philbrook during its rehearsal in Washington. Mr. Philbrook and his wife who is assisting him in this work, arrived early this week and are now engaged in training the young people who are taking part in this home production.

"The Runaways" is described as down-to-date, screamingly funny, musical farce comedy. The play has met with tremendous success in its presentation upon the professional stage, but has never before this been adapted to amateur production.

CALL IS EXTENDED

At a meeting of the congregation of the First Baptist church, Thursday night, a call was extended to Rev. A. E. Rapp, Assistant Pastor of the First Baptist church, of Dayton, who delivered a sermon here

Sunday, and made a decidedly good impression upon the congregation.

Rev. Rapp is a singer of considerable note as well as a "live wire" pastor. He is 35 years of age, married and has two children. He was former leader of the 800 voice choir in Russell Conwell's church of Philadelphia.

YOUR COAL PROBLEM SOLVED

No need to worry about your winter's coal bill if you use the

ESTATE HOT STORM

It burns any grade of soft coal in a highly successful manner, through the use of the Estate Hot Blast and Hot Air Circulating Systems, the greatest improvements ever made in a soft coal stove.

It heats by both radiation and hot air circulation, producing practically double the heat that is secured with ordinary coal stoves from the same amount of fuel.

By putting in coal once a day or two a steady fire from the time it is put up in the fall till taken down in the spring can be kept with but little attention and absolutely without smoke and gas escaping into the room.

You get this decidedly superior service, this demonstrable fuel economy, for the price of an ordinary stove. An examination will convince you.
